Sen. Mansfield Says Decision Should Be Ike's

Knowland Raps Talk Of Inviting Soviet Leaders To America

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today he is willing to leave it up to President Eisenhower's "own good judgment" whether to invite Russian leaders to visit the United States.

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign relations committee, made the observation in an interview after Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) told the Senate:

"I do not believe that any American president would extend such an invitation or that the American people or the American Congress would approve if it were extended."

Cites Talk of Visits

In his floor speech Friday, Knowland said the suggestion has recently been made by "columnists and commentators" that invitations be extended to Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and others to visit this country.

Saying he opposed an invitation to these or any of a number of other Russian leaders including Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov, Knowland added:

"I am greatly shocked that even some of our good citizens should be taken in by such a proposal."

Talk of possible visits by the Russian leaders has been revived by Russia's informal invitation this week to have several high U.S. Air Force officers attend Soviet Aviation Day ceremonies in Moscow June 24, and U.S. hints it might welcome a broader invitation to include all members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Nothing Further Heard

Nothing further on either possibility has been heard from the Russians.

Secretary of State Dulles declined to comment on the possibility of an invitation to the U.S. Joint Chiefs.

The British announced in London that they have "under consideration" a similar invitation to Air Minister Nigel Birch and a group of senior RAF officers.

In Boston, Secretary of the Air Force Quarles told interviewers Friday night the United States "will be happy to see anything the Russians care to show us" if the formal invitation is received.

A return invitation to the Russians to visit this country, he said, "would have to have some serious consideration. This is not just a Pentagon matter, but would have to be considered government wide."

Mansfield said a visit to Russia by members of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff "could be one small step along the slow road of trying to reach some kind of understanding with Russia."

That question, he said, "is one for the President to decide, as foreign policy leader."

"If we should accept the Russian invitation, it would naturally follow that some of their military leaders would visit this country," Mansfield said, adding:

"Maybe a face-to-face talk between the President and Marshal Zhukov might clear up some of

Cool Weather Appears Over

Crop Damage Seen Reaching Millions

By The Associated Press

The brief cool spell in the Northeast, which caused millions of dollars damage to crops, appeared broken today as warmer air spread into New England and the lower Great Lakes region.

Temperatures in the areas were 10 to 15 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier. Readings Friday morning were about 20 degrees below normal, dropping below freezing in many areas. Heaviest damage to crops, an estimated five million dollars, was in Massachusetts.

It also was warmer in the western Great Lakes region, with readings 5 to 10 degrees above normal compared to 15 to 20 degrees below normal two days ago.

Temperature changes in other parts of the country were minor. Readings in most areas were around seasonal levels except for a little below normal in sections of the Gulf states.

Heaviest rainfall was in sections of Oklahoma and Texas. A woman was killed by lightning and a tornado struck rural areas in the south plains of Texas Friday.

The twister hit northwest of Lubbock. Cloudbursts and hail flooded a creek near Texline in the upper Panhandle and two farm families were evacuated by motorboat.

Showers also sprinkled areas in the Rockies, the Northern and Central Plains, the Lower Mississippi Valley, western parts of the Ohio Valley and the upper Mississippi valley. Scattered thunderstorms rumbled across sections of Florida while light showers fell in the Gulf states.

Shooters from throughout the United States are expected to compete in the Salem Sesqui-centennial Muzzle Loader Shoot, sponsored by the Salem Hunting Club and the Sesqui Special events committee, to be held at the club range Saturday, June 16.

The shoot will commence at 9 a. m. and continue until 5 p. m. It will involve old time muzzle loaders, flint locks and muskets. Eleven types of matches will be held.

Trophies and medals will be awarded to the winners.

In addition to the contests, there will be open shooting for anyone who would like to try a muzzle loader at 25 cents per shot. There will be a qualified instructor from the Salem Hunting Club present to instruct and supervise the shooting of a muzzle loader for anyone who has never had the experience of using a rifle such as our pioneers.

Registration fee for the matches will be fifty cents and entry fee will be $1 per match. Entries should be mailed to David Kirby at 647 Ohio Ave., Salem.

The Hunting Club range is located one mile west of Salem on Route 62, near the Salem Country Club.

G. R. Walker is chairman of the Sesqui special events committee and David Kirby, Ray Brandt and Paul Horning are serving on the Hunting Club committee planning the shoot.

Algerian Battle To Be Taken To Security Council

U.N. African-Asian Group Plans Move; French Remain Silent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N.'s African-Asian group has decided to ask the Security Council to discuss the fighting in strife-torn Algeria.

U. P. Htin of Burma, group chairman, announced the decision after a 90-minute private caucus Friday night. He said details would be worked out later.

He told reporters 20 of the 23 countries in the group—the U.N.'s biggest—were on hand Friday and a majority favored the move. He added Hussein Ait-Ahmed, Algerian nationalist spokesman, proposed it.

12 To Make Appeal

Other informed sources said 12 countries were prepared to join in an appeal to the council, only the Philippines and Turkey declined to do so and the remaining six lacked the necessary instructions from home. Laos, Libya and Nepal were not represented.

The French delegation did not comment on the latest move. France has been fighting against a nationalist rebellion in Algeria since Nov. 1, 1954. The French government considers that north African region part of France itself and holds that the U.N. has no right to intervene.

Last July 13 Arab and Asia delegations asked that the Algerian question be put on the agenda of the 1955 General Assembly session. It was voted onto the agenda Sept. 30. The French walked out. The French came back the following December, after the assembly resolved to drop the issue.

At a meeting of the African-Asian group May 15, delegates decided to seek instructions that would allow them to ask for a special session of the General Assembly on the question. They took this course, it was said, in the belief they could get only three of the seven votes necessary to put the question on the agenda of the Security Council.

But over the weekend, the Arab League political committee met in Damascus and decided to press for Security Council consideration. Friday the group changed its plans accordingly. Paw Htin said it did so because the situation had deteriorated to a point of urgency.

Calling a special session of the assembly requires the approval of a majority of the U.N.'s 76 members in a mail-and-cable poll. Delegates in the group have said they think 35 of the necessary 39 members would approve the idea now and they might manage to win over another four. Observers wondered why the group had switched from the idea of a special session, which it might have swung, to that

Daniel Admits Being Convinced Of Girl's Death

Defendant Reiterates He Had No Part In Arranging Abortion

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas G. Daniel has admitted there came a time when he was convinced that Jacqueline Smith was dead in his apartment last Christmas Eve following a bungled abortion.

Daniel, 25, was indicted on manslaughter charges with Leo Pijuan, 46, in the death of the 20-year-old Miss Smith, from Lebanon, Pa.

Last week Pijuan pleaded guilty to performing an abortion on the girl and, after she succumbed, cutting her body into many pieces, wrapping the parts in Christmas paper and disposing of them in city trash cans. No trace of the body has been found.

Daniel, from Warren, Ohio, under cross-examination Friday in General Sessions Court, reiterated he had no part in arranging for an abortion, helping at it, or being responsible for the girl's pregnancy.

Under questioning by Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman, Daniel testified it was at Pijuan's insistence that he telephoned Dr. Ramiro Mireles, a surgeon, when Miss Smith could not be revived. Daniel repeated how Mireles came to his Manhattan apartment and vainly tried to revive Miss Smith.

"Did you ever become convinced while Dr. Mireles and Pijuan were in that room and from what you saw and heard in that room that 'Jackie' Smith was in fact dead?" asked Herman.

"I'll answer yes to that," Daniel said.

When he first took the stand Daniel persistently refused to admit as "a fact" that the girl was dead.

Herman then asked: "During the conference among you, Dr. Mireles and Pijuan did 'Jackie' ever get up and move around?"

Salineville Airman Says He Shot Man Because Of Fear

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—An 18-year-old Salineville, Ohio, airman, charged with murder, testified at his trial Friday that he shot a Wichita Falls man because he was afraid.

Roy Allen Hunter, an accused slaying city tax appraiser Jack Spangler, 26, last Dec. 16.

Hunter, testifying in his own defense, said he fired after Spangler made advances and grabbed the gun. He said he was afraid Spangler might kill him or injure him seriously if he resisted.

"I couldn't believe at first what I had done," Hunter said. "I was really frightened."

Hunter testified that after the shooting he returned to Sheppard Air Force Base, where he was stationed, and left the following day for home on leave. The slaying took place on a country road between here and the base.

The car he was driving collided with an auto operated by Everett E. Jackson, 54, of 469 Euclid St., police said. Both vehicles received minor damage.

A car driven by Mrs. James Schaeffer of 206 W. 10th St. struck a city light pole, breaking the globe, while backing out of a driveway on W. 10th St. The auto was not damaged.

Officer Denies Taking Bribes

Col. Shirley Quizzed On Army Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Col. Louis H. Shirley sought evidence today to back up vigorous denials that he took payoffs from government contractors.

Shirley heatedly told the Senate Investigations subcommittee Friday he was never offered and never received payoffs from military cap manufacturer Sol O. Schlesinger, Freeport, N.Y., or from anyone else, to influence his judgment as a top buyer for the armed forces in the early 1950s.

"Never from Schlesinger or anyone else" did he get any money, Shirley said in an angry denial.

Schlesinger swore earlier he never had taken $27,745 in kickbacks on a government contract, allegedly to make "payoffs under the table" to Shirley and other government personnel.

Shirley denied also that he had let another manufacturer, Herman Kravitz, Atlantic City, N.J., pay his hotel bill for a two-night stay in Paris in 1952.

Kravitz has refused, lest the answers tend to incriminate him, to tell the subcommittee whether he bribed government employees.

Shirley, a decorated World War II veteran, was the officer who awarded Schlesinger's company two contracts in 1950 to produce 720,000 Air Force uniform caps. The subcommittee is looking into this matter in connection with its search for evidence of graft in military procurement.

Blood Donors To Cast Votes For 'Queen'

What do the Salem sesqui queen candidates want, blood?

Well, it would seem so, according to an announcement made today.

Through the cooperation of sesqui-centennial committee and the local Red Cross Chapter, all blood donors will be given the opportunity to cast one thousand votes for their favorite candidate in the sesqui queen contest.

The Red Cross bloodmobile will arrive in Salem Friday, June 1, seeking its quota of 125 pints of blood.

A special ballot box will be located at the unit where queen votes may be deposited.

In any of the bloodmobile's 10 previous visits to the city, the goal was not reached. According to Hazel Linn of the Red Cross, the chapter is in arrears in its donations compared with the number of pints of blood used at the city's two hospitals and by Salem patients at other hospitals.

All persons willing to donate blood are requested to call ED 2-5219 to register. They will be given a definite time of appointment at the blood bank so that it will not be necessary to wait in line.

Foundations, Colleges' Help Is Expected

President Sees Better Education Abroad As Promoting Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower looked to the nation's universities and wealthy private foundations today to take up his challenge to establish educational centers in lands which lack adequate school facilities.

Eisenhower advanced the proposal in a speech Friday at Baylor University in Waco, Tex. He said that if it was carried out "the prospects for a peaceful and prosperous world would be mightily enhanced."

Eisenhower did not spell out details of his proposal, but administration circles viewed it as a private educational assistance program paralleling the government's own technical aid plan developed under former President Truman and continued under Eisenhower.

Ford, Carnegie Active The Ford and Carnegie Foundations, the nation's two wealthiest, commented that they already are active in the field of international education. Between them they control more than two-thirds of a billion dollars in assets.

President John W. Gardner of the Carnegie Corp. said in a statement in New York that his organization "has made a number of moves to further precisely the objectives that the President mentions."

Eisenhower's suggestion, he said "deserves the most serious attention and consideration."

Among other things in the foreign field, Gardner said, Carnegie has trained locally born teachers, aided universities to train leaders in public administration, provided advance training fellowships and helped increase library facilities.

The Ford Foundation referred to a May 3 speech by its President H. Rowan Gaither Jr. reporting that education has shared with economic development projects in funds spent by the Foundation in other countries.

Makes Fund Available Making a point which Eisenhower stressed, Gaither said the Foundation does not conduct research or build or run schools overseas, but instead has made funds for such purposes available to public and private agencies in the countries concerned.

Eisenhower emphasized that he was not thinking of American schools abroad which would have the primary task of exporting the culture of the United States to other nations. He declared that the staffs, the courses of study and the conduct of each school "would be the responsibility of the

Bible Words for Today

PSALMS 119:60 — "I hasten and do not delay to keep thy commandments." (RSV)

This brief passage from the Psalmist indicates a sense of urgency in keeping the commandments of God. Such a sense of urgency should dominate all of life's major interests. There may be some situations which call for a delay in our decisions to determine whether we are making wise investments on our time, money and energies. There are times, however, which call for immediate decision and action. If I am standing in the path of an approaching automobile, I should not hesitate to leap to safety. In such cases to abandon the sense of urgency is to suffer heavy loss.

The acceptance of Christ's claim upon the individual calls for immediate action. No one should ever hesitate to do good or to accept golden opportunities for service. If we have any serious purpose in life for the future we must do something about it in the present. When we overlook this truth we suffer heavy loss to both our minds and our characters. Today is ours. Let us say with the Psalmist, "I hasten and do not delay to keep thy commandments."

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Get What You Want Out Of Life

How you use your money has a great deal to do with what you get out of life. But the secret is not in getting and keeping money, but in giving it. We all want and need enough material blessings to live effectively and to do constructive work in this world, and it is no sin to have money. It's not money, but the love of money that is the root of evil. When we learn the art of giving more, and ourselves with it, we are really getting somewhere in this world.

There is an amazing law of supply, and through it the best things in life will flow to you. This law is taught and practiced under the name of "tithing," and its amazing result is described in this passage from the Bible: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse . . . and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it." Tithing has usually been taken to mean the giving of ten per cent of your income to God's work, although that is a minimum. I have personally seen this law result in the spiritual and material remaking of many persons.

FOR EXAMPLE, years ago I knew a young man whose marriage was failing. He was failing in his employment and in himself, too. When he came for consultation, he was filled with depressing negativisms. He talked negatively and dully about his problems. Then it occurred to me that the law of supply could solve everything for him.

He became a different person. He gave his money and he gave himself — and he had a rich return. After all, money, indeed all wealth is God's and if we use it and invest it as competent stewards in harmony with His laws, the result will be creative.

This is equally true of service. Albert Schweitzer is generally considered the greatest living man of our time. And who is Schweitzer? He made a reputation as one of the greatest organists of Europe. He became a famous authority on the music of Bach. And he was considered one of the world's foremost physicians. But out of a heart of love and selflessness, he gave this all up to go to an obscure and primitive section of Africa to live among poor savages so that he might help them. Today, he is considered far greater than he ever was in Europe — a man who is close to sainthood. You see, he gave himself, and in giving his life, he found it multiplied form.

PEOPLE WHO HOLD TIGHTLY to their money and to themselves can lose both. Indeed, I am sure that explains the unhappiness of many complicated and frustrated people today. But give your money and your life, and the law of supply will pour amazing blessings upon you, and more importantly, through you, Lose your life and you find it. That's the eternal law of living.

Each of us wants a great deal out of life. But you can't get the greatest things by getting and keeping. It doesn't work out that way. You get by giving and sharing. When you hold back either material things or self, you are just building a dam inside yourself that prevents blessings from coming through. Tear down that dam and there will pour into your life a flood of God's blessings, lifting you to a higher level of life than you have ever known.

The church will also recognize seven seniors of the high school. Youth Fellowship will meet on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m., followed by choir practice at 7:30.

Jehovah's Witnesses
"The Book with Life's Answers" will be the subject of Weldon Johnson at the 6:30 p.m. Jehovah Witnesses service Sunday.

THE CALL TO THE LIVING

A cross—a hundred crosses—marking the graves of men who died in the service of their country. But why a cross?

Is this the symbol of our gratitude for the sacrifice they made for us? It is not!

Is this the emblem of democracy and freedom in whose cause they laid down their lives? It is not!

But this is the symbol of a crucified and risen Christ. The One who unfolded for mankind the truth of God's love, the truth out of which democracy, freedom, and sacrifice have come.

The cross on a soldier's grave is a call to us—a call to the living to fill our churches. It is a call to serve with eager and sacrificial devotion the Lord whose Truth men have died to preserve.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

American Fable

Once there was an American public official who said what was on his mind and did not get his official head bashed in for it.

This was a long time ago, before American public officials had learned hell hath no fury like a minority with a highly articulate spokesman who has strong personal ambitions.

Later, no public official could say what was on his mind any more unless he cleared it first with a public relations counsel, an expert in the art of pear-shaped vowels and oyster-shaped flexibles flexible enough to slip down any gullet without binding.

But when things in America were still primitive, a public official could say "What goes up must come down"—and get away with it.

He could say something to the effect that in a system which is not run like a county home there will be days when a man may not know where the next can of beans is coming from.

He could say it is wonderful to live in a country where it's no disgrace to get knocked around by adversity if you get up off the floor afterward—where it is taken for granted that the race for survival is run over an obstacle course called Ups and Downs.

He even could make a comparison between bird dogs who roam around and find something when they're hungry and bird dogs who sit on their fannies and howl—and get away with that, too.

Some of his other blockbusters could be: Honesty is the best policy—A rolling stone gathers no moss—He who laughs last is slow on the pickup—Never try to fill an inside straight—There is no fuel like an old fuel—All power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely—There'll be no pie in the sky by and by.

Crazy, radical things like that, public officials used to be able to say. . .

But not any more. If the truth hurts, now, don't try it on. The squeaking wheel is entitled to get all the grease. What is good for U.A.W. is good for U.S.A. There is only one direction—up. Everybody's out of step but Walter.

These are what a public official must say now if he knows which side the votes are buttered on.

The moral is you can tell a good deal about a country by the things a public official must say instead of the things he would say if he said what was on his mind.

Special Session Imperative

Gov. Lausche's call for a special session of the General Assembly in late June puts him on the right side of the tough issue of whether or not the needs of local government should have first call on the Ohio legislature's time.

Certainly it is no fault of local government that court decisions took away the revenue cities have been drawing from a tax on government securities held by banks. It is not their fault that an obsolete state law controlling the sale of water beyond municipal limits threatened to foul up the General Motors project in the Youngstown area. The special session will deal with both these problems.

If the General Assembly met every year, as it should, to carry on its legislative duties continuously, instead of by fits and starts every two years, the governor of Ohio would not bear responsibility for calling it into special sessions.

Until that defect has been corrected, the governor has no choice but to put the legislature on the job whenever its services are needed. They are needed in 1956 to restore revenue which cities cannot spare and to remove the hedges from Youngstown to its desire to co-operate with General Motors in an industrial expansion of importance to the whole state of Ohio.

Public Opinion Could Do It

The American Humane Association's efforts to take the unnecessary horror out of livestock slaughtering are so well meant and so reasonable that it goes against the grain to doubt that federal compulsion in the form of a law is wise or necessary.

There is a way that public opinion could force the adoption of more humane methods of slaughter than are commonly in use, without forcing the issue by some new form of congressional action.

The minority of packing houses whose management has learned that humane slaughtering can be made to pay for itself could accept the use of a seal signifying that the American Humane Association approved of its slaughtering methods.

The misuse of the seal would be a violation of law. No packing house would be under compulsion to qualify for its use, but with the same kind of promotion whose aim is to compel packers to do something by law, the American Humane Society could make them do the same thing by persuasion. The packers, moreover, would have no rebuttal. There is no defense for unnecessary cruelty in livestock slaughtering.

Religion At Work

By EUGENE CARR

Never have the graduates coming out of our high schools and colleges had it so good! Business and industry are competing for their services. There is a shortage of engineers, accountants, teachers, nurses, skilled technicians and secretaries.

Later will come the first day on the job, and with it, some interesting discoveries. The new employee will find the competition among employers for his services has become a competition between himself and his fellow workers. Who will win out? Who will get ahead? Who will succeed?

Those with an extra measure of skill — yes. Those with unusual talent and ability — yes. But an important thing the new employee will discover as he goes along is that skill and ability alone are not enough to reach the top. True worth in a worker calls for qualities above and beyond dexterity of hand and cleverness of mind.

There are no short cuts in job progress. There is no easy way to a lasting promotion or advancement. There is no such thing as success based on material gain alone.

Many temptations face the new employee in his efforts to get ahead. Honesty may not always seem the best course to follow. Taking an unfair advantage over a fellow worker sometimes appears to be the wise thing to do. Cutting the corners in the quality of work performed is a constant test of loyalty.

But we cannot live by two sets of standards, one geared to our work and the other to the balance of our life and living. We cannot separate what we do on the job from all else that we are and do. Honesty, fairness, loyalty, and the courage to do right are not qualities that can be turned on and off as we see fit to use them. Either they prevail in every act and deed, or they do not prevail at all.

The young men and women coming out of school this Spring face a challenging opportunity. But, it would be well for them to remember three important things as they begin their job careers—

Work is one more of the many ways we are called upon to worship God. We praise Him when we do our work well as surely as when we kneel in prayer or sit in the church pew.

Work is part of God's plan for man. He is the giver of our talents. We glorify Him when we develop and use such talents properly.

A relationship with God is the only phase of an occupational career where we can start at the top. And, cultivating that relationship is the only sure way to rise above the lower rungs of the ladder.

Grants To Education

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business is increasing its grants to higher education in a drive to end a growing shortage of brains.

Corporations contributed 39 million dollars to 728 colleges and universities in their 1954-55 fiscal year, the Council for Financial Aid to Education reports. This was 12 per cent of the grand total of gifts received by these schools. But the council adds that if businessmen had donated just one per cent of total corporate net taxable income in that year the sum would have come to 340 million. And the school could have used it.

A number of corporations recently have announced sizable new grants or increased impressively the amounts donated for scholarships or faculty salaries.

They are looking to the colleges and universities for much of the business leadership of the future. And industrialists know there is already a shortage of young chemists, physicists and engineers—and the need for their brains will grow as the economy grows.

Neil McElroy, president of Procter & Gamble, predicts that "in the next 15 years we may have to build in this country facilities for higher education equal to the total of all those built since the landing of the Pilgrims."

His company gives scholarships and grants to those privately endowed schools from which it has drawn the largest number of graduates as employees, on the theory that these institutions ought to produce more of the same in the future.

Companies have different ways of setting up gifts to education. Some provide scholarships for families of their employees or dealers. Some give unrestricted funds to schools in the areas in which they have plants. Several encourage alumni contributions by agreeing to match the funds any of their employees contribute to their own alma maters.

Many that give scholarships also contribute to the college to meet the complete costs of the education being given to these scholars.

The News invites letters from readers on all important current subjects. The letters should be brief, not to exceed 200 words and must bear the signature and address of the writer to insure publication. Letters with anonymous signatures will not be published.

OUR PRESIDENTS

JOHN TYLER

Son of an influential lawyer of large landed interests. Born March 29, 1790, Greenway, Virginia. Graduated from College of William and Mary, 1806. First job was clerk in a law office; admitted to the bar when 19.

An accomplished violinist, he wanted to become a musician. Enjoyed social life and music; favorite pastime was reading, with a preference for poetry.

His interest in politics began while his father was Governor of Virginia, and he was elected at 21 a member of the Virginia Legislature. At 26, to Congress; at 35, Governor of Virginia; at 37, U. S. Senator. Re-elected to the Senate, he resigned rather than obey instructions of the Legislature that he vote to remove the census which the Senate had passed upon Jackson for transferring government deposits from the United States Bank. He reappeared as a Whig member of the Legislature, and was nominated by the Whigs as Vice President to attract votes of the slave-holding South.

The Alamo San Antonio, Texas. 1836

The first Vice President to fill an unexpired term of a President, he became tenth President of the United States April 4, 1841. His first act was to veto a banking bill presented by the Whig leader. This started a political revolution resulting in the resignation of every cabinet member. True to the principles he was known to have when nominated, he appointed a Democratic pro-slavery cabinet. Politically unpopular, he was hissed by every Whig, and he withdrew as Democratic candidate for re-election.

During his administration, Congress gave $30,000 toward developing the telegraph, and in 1844 the first message was sent—between Washington and Baltimore. Texas, a slave-holding state, was annexed. Sixteen years after retirement, he became chairman of the peace conference at Washington, 1861, which endeavored to avert the Civil War. He was a member of the provisional Confederate Congress when he died at Richmond, Virginia, January 18, 1862, aged 71.

Legislative Mongrels

One of the last and best of the short speeches of Alben Barkley in the Senate was a protest against the growing practice of what he called "multiple sponsorship" of bills. As Sen. Barkley described it, some member gets an idea and writes a bill around it. Then, to save it from oblivion and to make it look impressive, he tries to get a number of other senators to join him in sponsoring it. He deposits it on the table and invites co-signers. Then a number of his friends, who may have fish of their own to fry, tread what Sen. Barkley called "the sawdust trail" and affix their names. This business by no means implies that there is any great conviction on the part of the co-signers. They are just accommodating a friend.

One such legislative mongrel was introduced about a year ago with Sen. Murray as the original sponsor. It carried, under Mr. Murray's name, of 21 Democrats and two Republicans.

It is Senate Resolution 86, and with a great outpouring of platitudes and flourishes it states that it should be "the policy of the Congress that the United States participate with other nations, under the auspices of the United Nations, the Food and Agriculture Organization, and other international agencies, in establishing an International Food and Raw Materials Reserve."

Various countries would contribute to this store of all kinds of raw materials, including food and presumably minerals, which would probably be managed by an international authority.

The money or IOU's given to this "Reserve" for the purchase of materials therefrom would be used for all sorts of uplift activities among need nations. It should be noted that "credits" are involved which would mean a new kind of commodity currency.

The effect would be a sort of international price control—just another of the many proposals made in recent years for some sort of international control of our trade and economy.

The idea was submitted to the State Department, which took a very dim view of the idea. Assistant Secretary Morton, replying for Secretary Dulles, replied that the idea was not new but had been presented in many other forms in the past. It would, he said, create more problems than it would solve. Moreover, Mr. Morton wrote that it would involve "rigidities and distortions" which might well constitute "a danger to a free competitive economy."

Nevertheless, there will be hearings, beginning this month, on this proposal.

Irradiation Coming To Fore As Preservative

BIRMINGHAM

In the near future, the home-maker may be able to put highly perishable foods on the pantry shelf and forget about them—even in hot summertime.

That is the aim of research projects on the irradiation of foods by various governmental and industrial agencies racing to find the answers on how to irradiate foods successfully without injurious effects.

According to accounts of current research, we might expect to see irradiation of foods by various governmental and industrial agencies racing to find the answers on how to irradiate foods successfully without injurious effects.

According to accounts of current research, we might expect to see irradiation of foods by various governmental and industrial agencies racing to find the answers on how to irradiate foods successfully without injurious effects.

When irradiated foods come, meats will be completely sterilized and will keep for at least two months without danger of spoilage.

Radiation of foods is not a household process of food preservation. Foods will be handled in an irradiating plant and a conveyor belt will pass them through the course of radiation.

When foods are exposed to large doses of radiation, they will keep for varying periods, according to the type of food. If they are exposed to small doses of radiation, their keeping qualities will be extended a few days.

So, why not larger doses of radiation? As we understand it, large doses of radiation bring changes in flavor, texture and flavor's components — odor and taste. The question now — how to cope with that problem?

Plenty is being done about it. Sixty research agencies scattered about this country are studying the problem. One is the Southern Research Institute of Birmingham.

Dr. Robert E. Banks Jr., head of the organic chemistry laboratory is in charge of their part of the project. All research groups are under contract to the Quartermaster Food and Container Institute of the armed forces for research and testing on the irradiation of meat and other food products.

agencies are dealing with other chemical changes which take place, such as damage to certain nutrients.

When problems of flavor and nutrient-damage are worked out, when the scientists can say conclusively that there are no injurious effects from the use of radiation in the preservation of foods, then the Foods and Drugs Administration will give the go-ahead sign for irradiated foods to be placed on the consumer market.

Then, kitchen life will be different for the average housewife and for grocers who count off a large proportion of profits to the spoilage of highly perishable foods.

There should be a revolution in the food industry—to the profit of all concerned.

Now, are you beginning to worry about the appearance of radioactivity in irradiated foods?

You can forget it. The scientists tried all the available types of rays which come from the spectrum in early experiments. They found gamma and beta rays most suitable for irradiating foods. The gamma rays do not produce radioactivity. The beta rays do—only when used in large doses. So, it's gamma rays they're using for most of the testing.

Potatoes may be among the first foods to be irradiated. Tests have shown that sprouting which robs them of flavor, can be eliminated permanently and that they may be stored for 18 months without refrigeration.

Flour, wheat, cornmeal, other grains and cereals may be treated in the same manner to keep them free of insects at a very low cost for radiation.

Strawberries which normally keep only 2-3 days would remain fresh, tempting, and tasty 4-6 days. Meats normally fresh under refrigeration 4-6 days will remain edible about two months with limited amounts of radiation.

Viewing the picture nationally, we should not expect to see meat as a pantry shelf product in the near future. The scientists tell us that it will be several years, probably, before all the questions are answered.

But, this we know—the trek of science is moving swiftly to extend the keeping quality of our foods by pasteurization with small doses of radiation. Which means, we soon may be eating full-flavored fruits picked up full ripeness anywhere from Trinidad to Timbuctoo. Irradiated to the pasteurization extent, and shipped to this country, they will retain all the bloom and freshness they had when plucked from the tree or vine.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Now For Spectre-Vision

Hollywood has completed its search for Bridget Murphy to play in "The Search for Bridget Murphy" and come up with four to portray her between the age of four and 60, with Theresa Wright playing the housewife who abandons her housework for wrath-work and switches from "What's cooking?" to "What's spooking?" Bridget, who has been haunting the old homestead, will soon be haunting the movie theaters, ghost to ghost, so to speak.

THIS WILL GIVE millions the chance to curl up with a good spook, and we look for the cinema lobby ads to read, "You, Too, Can Be Somebody Else All This Week," "Meet Theresa Wright Wrath to Wrath Twice Daily," and "With This Box Office It Ain't the Money; It's the Spirit."

Believers in spiritualism, age retrogression, pre-existence and chats with the departed are going to have a field day on the wide screen. We fear the effect on casual movie-goers, ever susceptible to movie influences. This could develop a new class of cinema patrons going around in a trance in the belief they are chumming with their ancestors. They can even get the idea over a bag of buttered popcorn that they are somebody else. (What's to prevent the 1886 bag of popcorn taking on the shape of a sixteenth-century basket of hot chestnuts?)

FANCY THE POSSIBLE effects on a boy and girl watching the movie. The boy has his arm around the girl, naturally, but under the spell of Bridget, his arm becomes that of his great-great-grandfather. The girl has suddenly lost interest in her boy friend and thinks she is with Sir Walter Raleigh.

"Eddie, take your arm from around me," she orders. "I'm not Eddie," says Eddie. "I am G. Brewster Coddington of Salem, Mass., and we Pilgrim Fathers are doing very well. The arm of which you complain is around a Pilgrim mother."

"Please pass the popcorn," commands the girl.

"I will take it up with the Indians," says Eddie. "Now stop bothering me, Jennie."

"Jennie!" exclaims the girl. "I'm not Jennie, I'm Maggie Gilligan. It's a pity if I can't come into a movie house with a long dead escort without being annoyed by a perfect stranger who has been in the spirit world only half as long as I have."

THERE'S NO TELLING how far the Bridget influence will go in pictures. We might even see a movie theater advertising Donald Duck in "ectoplasm" and offering a psychic Mickey Mouse. There could be two plain and simple ghost stories offered as a double feature. As James Whitcomb Riley might say:

And little Orphan Annie says when the blaze is blue,
An' the lampwicks sputter an' the wind goes woo-oo,
You better mind yer parents and yer teachers fond and dear,
An' cherish them that loves you, an' dry the orphan's tear
An' help the poor and needy ones that clusters all about;
Bridget Murphy films will get you of you don't watch out!

THIRTY-THREE HORSES were auctioned at Belmont for $600,000 and we think the bidding was lively because, in buying a horse, you don't have to worry about what's basic and what comes extra . . . The eyes, ears, legs, hooves, mane and tail are all standard equipment and if you get a critter for $5,000 you get the whole business.

For the first time in history the Ford Motor Company had a stockholders' meeting in the sense of public participation this week . . . Fourteen tents were needed at Dearborn and in the flood of questions about the stock decline it seemed for the first time in Ford history the people developed a rattle.

Limit On Liquor Permits Fought

Court Action Begun Against New 'Freeze'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The limitation on issuance of hard liquor permits in Ohio may end—temporarily at least—next Tuesday midnight.

This was indicated today after 40 holders of beer and wine carryout permits started court action against a new "modified freeze" regulation adopted by the State Liquor Control Board May 17 to go into effect Monday.

State Liquor Director William C. Bryant says he expects a flood of new liquor permit applications after emergency regulations expire Tuesday. The emergency regulations were adopted as a stopgap measure when an Ohio Supreme Court ruling eight weeks ago knocked out "freeze" regulations which had been in effect since 1949 on hard liquor permits.

The court action by Franklin and Hamilton County permit holders operates as a stay of the effective date of the new regulation.

The suit filed Friday in Franklin County Common Pleas Court said the liquor board failed to make a reasonable effort to notify permit holders of the effect of the modified freeze. They also claimed the new regulation is unreasonable, discriminatory and against public policy.

The regulation would have taken all D-3a (2:30 a.m. closing) and beer and wine carryout permits from under the freeze. It would have put applications for the two classifications of beer and wine by-the-glass and the three classes of liquor permits under a population-ratio quota based on 1956 population figures.

Bryant said the court action "will automatically freeze all beer and wine carryout permits at the level where they now exist."

Since the Supreme Court decision did not touch on the beer and wine carryout and beer and wine by-the-glass permits, they still will be frozen under the 1949 regulation after Tuesday midnight.

Some observers saw Friday's court action as one to prevent issuance of more carryout permits. Additional permits would increase competition for the permit holders who filed the appeal.

Bryant said absence of any statutory restriction may force his department to hand out as many as 5,000 new hard liquor permits.

Alumni Dinner Plans Completed

Seven High School Majorettes Selected

LEETONIA — Final plans have been completed for the Leetonia High School alumni dinner-dance to be held in the school Saturday, June 9, with the dinner starting at 6:30 p.m.

Speaker of the evening will be Wilbur Couchie, former resident of Leetonia and a graduate of the class of 1938. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Couchie of the Columbiana-Lisbon Road.

Toastmaster will be Joe Leeson of Alliance, a graduate of the class of '31 and the son of Joe Leeson Sr. of Ridge St.

James Ciminelli, alumni president, announced anyone not having made his reservation can do so by dropping a card to Miss Betty Helt or Miss Amelia Sullivan. Reservations must be in June 2.

It is hoped that every class will be represented. The dance will be held from 9 to 12 p.m.

KATHY AND DEBBIE Lance of Cleveland spent several days this week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Holt.

Seven majorettes to perform with the Leetonia High School marching band during the 1956 football season have been chosen at the high school. Miss Nancy Haxton head majorette at Baldwin Wallace College, served as judge.

Winning top honors in the competition was Miss Linda Radler, who will be drum majorette during the coming grid season. The other girls chosen were Patty Smith, Patty Ferguson, Carolyn Hinchliffe, Lindell Altomare, Jackie Stevenson and Dolores Baker. Nine girls competed for the positions.

The basis for the judging was twirling ability, marching, personality, and appearance. The tryouts consisted of marching toward the judge, giving a salute to the judge, a twirling routine and ended with a salute to the judge and a march. All maneuvers were done to recorded marches.

THE WOMEN of the Lutheran Church and guests are invited to the Willing Workers Class meeting at the church Monday evening at 8. There will be a "silent auction." Hostesses are Mrs. W. H. Floding, Mrs. John Mayernick, Mrs. Eldon Holt Jr., and Mrs. Ralph Kennedy.

Hays Urges Free Election In Hungary

Congressman Wayne Hays today urged State Secretary Dulles to demand that "a free election be held in Hungary as a prerequisite to any forthcoming visit to the United States by Soviet leaders Khrushchev and Bulganin."

The Ohio lawmaker, who is a member of the House Foreign Relations Committee and an advocate of liberation of the satellite and Baltic States, made his comments in a letter to State Secretary Dulles following a conference with Ferenc Nagy, the former prime minister of Hungary who is in exile in the United States.

It was the regime of Prime Minister Nagy that was overthrown in 1946 by the present Communist dictatorship of Matyas Rakosi, who is one of the last remaining pro-Stalin Communists in Hungary.

Hays said that he "is more convinced than ever" that the liberation of Hungary could come about through a free election, and that "the time is ripe" to demand such an election as evidence of the Kremlin's sincerity about rectifying the crimes of Stalin against humanity.

The Ohio lawmaker pointed out that the present regime of Rakosi in Hungary is in an extremely precarious position, since Rakosi is one of the most reactionary, pro-Stalin Communists in Hungary.

If Soviet leaders are sincere about the past crimes of Stalin, they will remove this protégé of the late dictator and afford the good people of Hungary with the privilege of a free election, and I feel that such a suggestion should be made to the Kremlin by the highest authorities in the United States Government.

Congressman Hays also predicted that "an event of major world importance" will occur behind the Iron Curtain with the next three weeks, but declined to comment on its nature.

Future Projects Discussed By Daughters Of Emmanuel

Five Circles of the Emmanuel Daughters of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church met in separate sessions Wednesday. Programs were presented and future projects discussed and planned.

Hannah
The Hannah Circle met at the home of Mrs. John Theiss with 18 members and two guests, Mrs. John Weber and Mrs. Richard Strain, in attendance. The group sang "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Dale Thompson, Mrs. George Gottschling Jr., and Mrs. William Meisner.

A first reunion of a school dismissed for the last time 40 years ago will be held Memorial Day when alumni and teachers of Woodville School gather at Midway Grange Hall. A cafeteria lunch will be served at noon.

The only scheduled events on the program will be a memorial service for deceased alumni and a short business session. A group picture will be taken, and group singing is planned.

Anyone interested is invited to attend the reunion, and those knowing the addresses of alumni who have moved from the vicinity are asked to call Mrs. Warren Stewart (the former Nellie McGhee) of Woodland Ave. Other known alumni from this area are Ernest U. Whitacre of the Lisbon Road, Mrs. Anna Whitacre Israel of Damascus and Charles Whitacre of Alliance.

In the late 1880's and early 1900's the late L. B. Harris and John Pow, both of Salem, taught at Woodville School. The school building is now a barn on the farm of Ed Haag, which adjoins the original site of the school.

Those attending the affair are asked to bring with them any mementos of their school days, such as books, pictures, song books and those books with verses written on the fly leaves.

Because of the friendly rivalry traditional between the Woodville School and Bonesville School, which is located two miles to the north, a special invitation is extended to all former Bonesville teachers and pupils.

"Are you being facetious, sir?" asked Daniel.

After Herman repeated the question, Daniel said, "I will not answer that question, sir, it is ridiculous."

Judge Mitchell Schweitzer told Daniel to answer the question. The defendant then conceded he did not see the girl move.

After Mireles told him and Pijuan that nothing more could be done for the girl, Daniel said, Pijuan "began weeping up his instruments and at the same time he devoured a large bag of candy that was on the table. I told him to sit down and be quiet."

Daniel also repeated testimony about going out to obtain an automobile and returning to find the girl's body was gone but there were a number of packages about.

Daniel testified he had no idea what the packages contained and that he was "not quite clear" as to why Pijuan and Mireles insisted he obtain a car.

Paid $50 "Indirectly"

Asked whether or not he paid Pijuan $50 to perform the abortion, Daniel replied, "Not directly but indirectly."

He added that he had given that sum of money earlier to Miss Smith to "buy some things" and that when Pijuan came to the apartment she handed him (Daniel) the money and he, in turn, handed it to Pijuan.

After the girl died, Daniel testified, Pijuan wanted him to take back the money and "when I refused, Pijuan threw the money down on the couch. I picked up the money and put it in my pocket."

Early Christmas morning, Daniel said, Pijuan accepted $25 from him in repayment of a loan made by him in March 1935.

Asked why he called Miss Smith's place of employment twice during the week after Christmas and made other calls to her friends inquiring about her whereabouts, Daniel replied:

"I was told by Dr. Mireles and Pijuan to make those phone calls in order not to implicate them."

of a council debate, which it stood little chance to obtain.

Would Encourage Nationalists

Al-Ahmed's said that even if the group failed to get the council to discuss Algeria, the effort would encourage the nationalists and result in "large publicity."

Then, he said, the group could try for a special session. Failing in that it could seek a debate on Algeria in the assembly's three-month regular session to begin next Nov. 12.

The group's complaint to the Security Council, it was understood, will be that the situation in Algeria is a threat to international peace and security.

French Premier Guy Mollet has offered to negotiate with any representatives that may be elected by the Algerian people. His government's present efforts are aimed at cleaning up the rebellion. He has asked for a debate on Algeria over the weekend and a vote of confidence afterward.

11 Hospitalized After Riot At Big GM Plant

FLINT, Mich. — No work was scheduled today at the big General Motors' Fisher Body plant in suburban Grand Blanc, but deputies and state police stood guard against a repetition of a riot in which 11 men were hospitalized Friday.

Two of the 11 injured still were reported in critical condition today. But Sheriff Don H. Carmichael had made no arrests and deputies said they didn't know whether any would be made.

Carmichael ordered four cruisers to the scene today State police said they would augment the sheriff's force with at least as many.

Involved in the rioting were members of the millwrights, steam fitters and riggers unions, all one-time AFL affiliates. Dissension had been brewing for weeks bursting into the bloody riot. All are employees of Darin & Armstrong, Inc., of Detroit, general contractors.

Ralph Welborn, secretary of the Flint Building Trades Council, said riggers had been "trying to muscle in by goon tactics" for weeks on work normally done by members of the millwrights or steamfitters unions.

A spokesman for the riggers said the trouble all brewed from an incident Thursday.

"The steamfitters swarmed through the plant in mobs and picked our boys off one by one," he said. "They rushed them out of the plant, destroyed our tools and threw our clothing all over the ground. Several of our men were roughed up."

The riggers were in command Friday as they swept through the plant swinging heavy chains, baseball bats, wrenches and clubs.

A spokesman for Darin & Armstrong said an effort would be made over the weekend to place the jurisdictional dispute before the international presidents of the unions involved.

"This," he said, "has gotten out of hand to the point where it can no longer be settled on the local level."

Electricity Stops, Starts Heart During Operation

NEW YORK — A group of Brooklyn surgeons say they have used a jolt of electricity to halt a 11-year-old girl's heart during an operation.

The surgeons at the State University of New York College of Medicine announced Friday that it was the first successful use of the electric current technique in this country.

Michele Lauer of Brooklyn was operated on a month ago to sew up a hole in an inner wall of her heart. A dry and quiet heart was needed for the job.

Surgeons therefore employed a mechanical heart-lung machine to bypass the heart for an hour. They used a low voltage electric shock to halt her heart and a high voltage to start it pumping again 30 minutes later.

Michele, recovered from the operation, went home Friday.

Eisenhower did not suggest what if any role the government might play in bringing about the massive cooperative effort of universities and private funds which he projected.

Water Meter Reader Confesses Stabbing

CINCINNATI — Detective Chief Henry Sandman said today Robert Lyons, a 43-year-old water meter reader, has admitted the fatal stabbing April 11 of a prominent young Cincinnati society matron.

Sandman said Lyons told him he stabbed Mrs. Audrey Evers Pugh after she told him to use a door into the garage to read the meter rather than the rear door to the house.

Mrs. Pugh's body, with 24 stab wounds, was found inside the front door of her home in a fashionable Hyde Park district by her husband William Worthington Pugh.

Lyons was one of the first suspects questioned in the case. He was released but has been questioned at various times since then. Questioning of him was resumed Friday after police said they noted several discrepancies in his stories.

Sandman and Police Chief Stanley Schrotel said Lyons told him he became incensed at Mrs. Pugh when she told him, "Don't make a fool of yourself."

He said Mrs. Pugh made the remark after she had told him to use the garage door.

Dalles set the tone of the Washington attitude Friday when he said that there would be no hurry to act on an invitation which still has not come from Moscow.

Washington apparently is holding out for a formal invitation that would permit the top men to go to Moscow and talk as equals to their opposite numbers of the Red military forces—not just witness an air show.

But balanced against that is the fear of some diplomatic policy makers that an exchange of military visits might cause Allied and neutral nations to decide this country was becoming more friendly to Russia while counseling other nations to beware of the Soviet.

SHE DOES IT FOR 'GLORY'

MORE graphic than words are these remarkable photos of a 26-year-old girl who seeks "glory" in the bull rings of Colombia, but often finds only broken bones and pain. She is Bertha Trujillo of Armenia. Every Sunday, she stands poised and alert, waiting for the charge of the bull. These pictures show what happened to her on two successive Sundays. More than 30,000 cattle ranchers watched her take some of her worst beatings and still hailed her as a "tough hombre." In one fight, she was knocked down seven times in 15 minutes, but refused to quit. Slammed against a fence and dragged across the ring, she was finally taken out by her attendants amid a thundering ovation from the crowd. For six years, during the "season," she has appeared in small towns and not one month went by without an injury. She does it for "glory" and $250 for a Sunday's work.

Here Bertha shows daring with the muleta (cape).

She was hospitalized after this fight, but returned.

Doby's Three Hits Lead White Sox To 2-1 Victory Over Tribe

Base Running Helps Chicago

Billy Pierce Holds Cleveland In Check

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—Larry Doby may look like a man from Mars with a rubber glove on one hand and an abbreviated football helmet on his head but the Chicago White Sox don't care as long as he hits.

And Doby has given indications that he's ready to do the slugging the White Sox expected of him when they traded Chico Carrasquel and Jim Busby to Cleveland for the left-handed hitting center-fielder.

Plagued by a hand infection and a groin injury, Doby returned to the Sox lineup Wednesday and rapped out a pair of hits instrumental in leading Chicago to a 3-2 victory over Baltimore.

Doby rapped out three hits, including a double, last night in paving the way for a 2-1 Chicago triumph over his old teammates and it was a bit of smart base running by Doby which enabled the Sox to beat Cleveland.

Despite excellent pitching by Billy Pierce, ace Chicago left-hander, Cleveland held a 1-0 lead over the Sox until Jim Rivera slammed a home run to open the sixth inning and tie the score.

Nellie Fox doubled but was out trying for third and Minnie Minoso flied out. Doby stepped up and slammed a single, one of his three hits for the night.

Dave Philley then singled to left and Doby rounded second to draw a throw from Al Smith, Cleveland left fielder. Smith threw to second and Doby continued to third.

Cleveland second baseman Bobby Avila, having no play on Doby, fired to first in an attempt to nail Philley, but his throw was into the dugout and Doby romped home with the winning run.

"It's a good play," said Doby later in the clubhouse. "If he throws to second, I go to third. If he throws to third, I go back to second."

Despite his ailments, Doby said "I'm feeling great. You have to feel good when you're hitting. I wear the glove because the dirt won't wear to keep resin and dirt away from my hand. It doesn't bother me but the infection is not cleared up and resin or dirt can irritate it."

Larry wears a head gear when batting which resembles a tight fitting football helmet and gives him an awesome look.

"I don't care how he looks up there," said Sox manager Marty Marion, "so long as he hits. And you can see he's going to hit for us."

Big 10 Approves Round-Robin Football

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Big Ten was committed today to a round-robin football schedule which would make it a closed circuit by 1963, save for its Rose Bowl tieup and one outside game.

The conference took the action Friday after wrestling itself to a long term Rose Bowl partnership with the Pacific Coast Conference.

While it extended a comforting hand to the subsidy-troubled PCC, the Big Ten clearly was looking for an avenue to avoid the same kind of misery in its own conference.

The round-robin plan was interpreted as a move partly to bring Big Ten football into a closer "family" association with better chances for conference control over athletic subsidies and other matters.

Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors approved a plan which:

Sets up a maximum 10-game schedule by 1959 instead of the present nine-game slate.

Requires a minimum of seven conference games for each team in 1959-60, eight in 1961-62 and nine thereafter.

The plan will be placed before school faculty boards for action in September. If any school dissents, it goes back to the conference faculty-director group, which can okay it by majority vote.

Kluszewski Paces Redlegs' Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Big Ted Kluszewski, dogged by problems this spring, seems to be finally hitting his stride for the Cincinnati Redlegs.

He got a heavy workout in Friday's 6-5 Redleg win over Milwaukee's Braves.

Big Klu:
Hit his ninth homer of the season.
Belted a single in the ninth that brought in the tying run. After a bad Brave throw to third, the winning run came home.

Batted in two other runs.
Was on the front end of two Redleg double plays.

One of the Redlegs' most prominent "musclemen," Klu has had trouble this season getting started both in the field and at the plate.

For the Reds' second in a three-game series with the Braves, Johnny Klinkstein slated to start on the mound today, opposing Ray Crone.

The Redlegs jammed the National League race into an even tighter snarl by rallying Friday night to defeat first place Milwaukee.

The Braves have only a three-percentage point edge over St. Louis with the Redlegs only six points father back. On a screwy "games behind" basis, the Cardinals are in "first" by a half game over third place Cincinnati—which is a half game ahead of Milwaukee.

Mantle, Long Increase Batting Averages As Yankees, Pirates Win

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Mickey Mantle upped his batting average to .427 and Dale Long jacked his to .417, but they were almost lost in the pack Friday night as despite generally cool temperatures the majors wound up with a bushel of hot hitters and a sack of cold cash.

Mantle had two hits in three trips and drove in three runs as the New York Yankees caught up with rookie left-hander Don Ferrarese—who almost hung a no-hitter on them two weeks ago—and belted Baltimore's Orioles 10-2. The game drew 37,070 fans and the victory sent the Yankees into a four-game American League lead.

Long, the Pittsburgh powerhouse, walloped his 12th homer—matching a major league mark with six in six consecutive games—and took the National League lead in that department as the Pirates rallied to trim Philadelphia 8-5.

That's the way the leaders operated—but give a look at some of the also-rans:

Roy Sievers smacked a pair of homers, driving in five runs as Washington out-shot Boston 10-5 before a crowd of 24,879 at Fenway Park. Jim Piersall drove in all but one of Boston's runs with two homers and a single.

And with 31,840 fans sitting in at Chicago, Larry Doby had three-for-four, scoring the run that beat his old mates with some base-running dash as Billy Pierce three-hit Cleveland 3-2.

Bill Tuttle had two-for-four for the Tigers, but it was wasted effort as Kansas City won 6-3 before a crowd of 20,358 at Detroit.

In the National, Ted Kluszewski smacked four-for-five, including a homer, and drove in three runs as Cincinnati topped first place Milwaukee 6-5 on an unearned run in the ninth. That game pulled in 32,473 at Milwaukee.

Don Blasingame had three-for-four—and the veterans Grady Hatton and Murry Dickson each had two-for-four—while the St. Louis Cardinals battered the Chicago Cubs 6-1.

And with 34,634 on hand at the Polo Grounds, the New York Giants poked three home runs to beat Don Newcombe and the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-5. It was the third straight defeat for the world champions, dropping them into the second division for the first time (excluding season-opening weeks) since 1948.

In all, 203,291 fans showed up for the full slate of night games with the AL pulling in 114,347.

The White Sox got to Mike Garcia in a two-run sixth. Jim Rivera opened with a home run. Doby singled, bluffed a throw on Dave Philley's follow-up single and scooted home on Bobby Avila's scoring error. Pierce had the Indians under wraps by then. He struck out seven and retired the last 15 men in order in winning his fifth.

Billy Bruton's second error—one of four by the Braves—opened the door for Cincinnati's winning marker in a two-run ninth. Jim Kluszewski singled home the tying tally. Warren Spahn lost it, with Gene Conley, just off the disabled list, getting the final out. Joe Black won in relief for the Redlegs, only nine points back of Milwaukee now.

The Cards are just three points behind the Braves, swatting 10 hits in support of Dickson's second victory. The little righthander started a pair of two-run frames with singles.

Former winners Bob Sweikert, Indianapolis, Tony Ruttman, Lynwood, Calif., and Johnnie Parsons, Van Nuys, Calif., also qualified at speeds high enough to avoid worry about being bumped from the lineup.

Twenty-nine cars qualified last weekend, topped by a record 145.596 m.p.h. for the 10-mile test by Pat Flaherty's new John Zink.

Fullmer Beats Charles Humez Ready To Battle Robinson For Title

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer is ready, willing and able to give middleweight Champion Sugar Ray Robinson a good night's work for which Ray would be guaranteed $100,000.

While Sugar Ray and his "entourage" were riding a Pullman home from Los Angeles where he disposed of ex-champ Bobo Olson with ridiculous ease a week ago, Fullmer Friday night brushed off France's Charles Humez, European middleweight champ as, a leading contender for the world's title.

Fullmer, 23, a sturdy mauler from West Jordan, Utah, ripped open cuts around both eyes of Humez while winning a unanimous decision in a blood-spattered 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

As Humez was No. 2, behind Olson in the latest Ring ratings, and Fullmer No. 3, the undisputed victory lifted the scrappy Mormon into the driver's seat.

"We want Robinson and we won't settle for anything else," said Mary Jensen, Fullmer's manager. "We're willing to guarantee Ray $100,000 at Salt Lake City or Ogden if the International Boxing Club can't make the match in New York."

Harry Markson, IBC boxing director, said "We'll see what Robinson says when he comes in."

At the end of the bruising brawl, Humez' white ring trunks were stained with blood from the cuts around both eyes. Although no stitches were required, the blood flowed freely from a slash around the right eye, opened in the third, and a gash over the left eye, sliced in the sixth. Fullmer also was cut atop the head and bled from the nose.

Referee Mark Conn scored it 7-3, Judge Artie Aida 7-2-1 and Judge Leo Birnbaum 6-4 all for Fullmer. The Associated Press card was 7-3 pounds to 159 1/4 by Humez.

Indiana, Michigan Qualify 10 In Meet

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Indiana's eager Hoosiers, led by this nation's top Olympic broad jump prospect, menaced well-balanced Michigan's title defense in the Big Ten Outdoor Track and Field meet today.

Both Michigan's Wolverines, seeking their 21st title in the 56th annual conference championships, and the Hoosiers, who have won four times, qualified 10 men for the 13-event concluding program.

Standout in Friday's preliminary competition was Indiana's Greg Bell, 25-year-old Army veteran, who soared 25 feet, 11 1/4 inches to hang up the best leap in this event anywhere in the world this year.

Bell gets another crack today under championship pressure at the 21-year-old world record of 26-8 1/4 set by Ohio State's Jesse Owens, also in the Big Ten meet.

Indiana needs much more help than Bell can give, however, to derail the Wolverines, who are loaded in the field events and have solid point getters in most of the track events.

Beyond Bell's great broad jump effort and a 14.1 breeze by Michigan State's Joe Savoldi, Jr., in the 120 high hurdles, Friday's trial performances were quite average.

Iowa was third in the qualifying lists with nine men, followed by Michigan State with seven; Northwestern and Ohio State with six each; Minnesota with three; and Wisconsin and Illinois with two. Purdue failed to qualify in the six events tested.

Mexicali, Mexico — Billy Peacock, 121, Los Angeles, knocked out Memo Sanchez, 119, Mexico City, 3.

Former winners Bob Sweikert, Indianapolis, Tony Ruttman, Lynwood, Calif., and Johnnie Parsons, Van Nuys, Calif., also qualified at speeds high enough to avoid worry about being bumped from the lineup.

Break Ground Sunday For $70,000 Church

COLUMBIANA—Ground will be broken at 3 p.m. tomorrow by members of the Church of the Nazarene for their new church at N. Elm and Fourth Sts. The Rev. C. D. Taylor of Louisville, district superintendent of the denomination, will be the speaker.

The Rev. Lonnie Baltz, pastor, says the congregation plans to occupy its new place of worship by Christmas, and that funds are on hand for the $70,000 project. Plans of members of the congregation to donate labor have reduced the cost estimate.

The site of the new church fronts 229 feet on the east side of N. Elm St. and extends back 198 feet along Fourth St. The light buff brick building will front 40 feet on Elm St. and will be 92 feet long, with a 22 by 28-foot wing extending south from the rear of the main section. Class rooms, of which there will be 21 in all, and the pastor's study will be in the rear of the 40 by 78-foot sanctuary, and youth rooms will be provided in the wing. The wing section of the basement which will be under the entire building, will be for Sunday school use.

Ample parking facilities will be afforded by the grounds around the church. Donations to the building fund may be made payable to the Church of the Nazarene and may be sent to the pastor, the Rev. L. A. Baltz, 334 Union St. Columbiana.

NEW YORK (AP)—Margaret Truman has laryngitis and has postponed her scheduled television appearances on the George Gobel show June 2 and on "Matinee Theater" June 3.

"It's nothing serious," said her husband Clifton Daniel Friday. "She's not confined to bed. But obviously, with a bad throat, she can't perform."
